Tariff terms and conditions

Free Saturdays or Sundays September 2015 prices are fixed until 30th September 2015. The electricity tariff is based on a daily standing charge and a unit rate. The unit rate will be zero between 9am-5pm on either Saturday or Sunday and our Standard unit rates as of 30th June 2014 at all other times. The standing charge applies at all times. The gas tariff is our Standard variable tariff, based on a daily standing charge and single unit rate.

You can choose to get the free electricity usage on either Saturdays or Sundays during the period of your contract. You will need to remain on your chosen day for free electricity usage, and remain on our Standard variable gas tariff throughout the period of your contract. This offer is subject to fair usage, we'll contact any customers we believe are using electricity excessively on their free day and in some extreme cases may remove customers from the tariff.

We will confirm the day you have chosen for your free electricity usage in the contract pack, bills and annual statement. The terms and conditions for your tariff will be the same regardless of which day you chose for your free electricity usage. You can find more details on our prices from our website britishgas.co.uk/tariffrates or in your contract pack.

We cannot transfer your smart meters if you move home. You cannot be supplied on this tariff if you use a prepayment, Multi-rate or a standard (non smart) credit meter. If you move from a credit smart meter to a prepayment, Multi-rate or a standard credit meter, we will move you to our Standard variable tariff being offered at the time of the meter exchange and your prices may be higher. You may also lose your Dual Fuel discount. We will let you know your rates in advance of the transfer. If you cancel your contract with us, for example by switching to another energy supplier, before 30th September 2015, we may apply an exit fee (inclusive of VAT) of £30 for electricity. Exit fees will be collected, before any other amounts you owe us, from payments you make or any credit balance you have.

We will write to you before this agreement ends, to let you know what options may be available to you, for example a new fixed term contract, a new evergreen contract (a contract with no end date) or an extension to your fixed term period. You are under no obligation to accept any option we may provide you, in which case we will move you to our cheapest available Standard tariff on 30th September 2015. If you agree to enter into a new fixed term contract with us, your existing terms and conditions (including prices) will be applied until your new fixed term contract comes into effect. We will not extend your fixed term period unless you agree to this in writing. If we fail to give you appropriate notice before extending your fixed term period, we will not charge you any exit fee.

At the end of your contract, if you decide to switch to another supplier, then as long as your new supplier contacts us within 20 working days of the end of your contract, we will continue to apply your existing terms and conditions (including prices) until you transfer to your new supplier. If you have any outstanding charges on your account, we can ask you to clear them before allowing you to move to another supplier. If this happens, your existing terms and conditions (including prices) will be applied for 30 working days from the date we told you that we will prevent the transfer. Once you pay the outstanding balance, your new supplier can reapply to take over your supply.

Free Saturdays or Sundays September 2015 rates are subject to any VAT and regulatory changes and changes to any discounts that may be applied to your bill.

Free Saturdays or Sundays September 2015 is subject to availability and may be withdrawn at any time. These terms and conditions apply in addition to our Standard terms and conditions of supply, which can be found below or in your contract pack.

Our usual terms and conditions of supply also apply.
